

iPad Mini Screen Protector

Everyone loves the iPad Mini. It is absolutely stunning, so neat and beautifully designed, lightweight and convenient – it really is one of the most wonderful pocket sized devices out there. Unfortunately the fact that it is so portable is one of its potential downfalls and not all of us look after our mini devices as we should; we shove them in our pockets, briefcases and tote bags, they disappear down the back of the sofa after our children have played with them – no wonder they get scratched and covered in grubby fingerprints! It might be worth considering an iPad Mini Screen Protector to keep your iPad Mini looking good.

Not everyone agrees with the use of iPad Mini screen protectors, some feel that it ruins the simple, classy design of the device, others hate the feel of the protector and claim it interferes with the touch screen responsiveness. Screen protectors can sometimes be very difficult to fit and quite often can have people pulling their hair out over bubbles that just will not smooth out.

We have had a look around and here are a range of iPad Mini screen protectors that are on the market.

OtterBox – Clearly Protected Series Screen Protector

OtterBox screen protectors for the iPad Mini are marketed as using a 100 per cent dry application with bubble free installation. Constructed from a self healing, durable, hi-gloss polyurethane material for maximum clarity and sharpness, this screen protector comes with a lifetime warranty. It has average reviews. Reasonably priced at $29.99

Mobling – Premium Ultra Clear HD Screen Protector, 3 pack

Described as the ultimate in screen protection and 100 per cent American owned, this protector is also bizarrely marketed as having “sexy style”! It has very good reviews. Competitively priced at $5.99

BodyGuardz – ScreenGuardz PureTM Premium Glass Screen Protector

This version of the ScreenGuardz series of screen protector is constructed of chemically tempered, anti shatter glass with BodyGuardz, the manufacturer, claiming that nothing tops glass for “functionality, feel and clarity”. Installed with a special adhesive, this screen protector has a smudge resist coating. It has good reviews. More expensively priced at $59.95

INVELLOP – iPad Mini Crystal Clear 3 Pack Screen Protector

We couldn't resist adding this one because the price is so low! Precision cut, easy installation, scratch/scuff resist with squeegee and cleaning cloth included. It has very good reviews and is the real bargain of the bunch at £1.95 – for a 3 pack!
